

AINON BAPTIST CHURCH, SLOTT CARDIFF

ROLL OF HONOUR

Ainon Baptist church in Walker Road, Splott on the corner with Adeline Steet was a Welsh Baptist church and originally a daughter church of Salem Baptist church and designed to cater for the Welsh speaking community moving into the rapidly expanding area of Splott. It started in 1889 as a mission hall church in Marion Street. The mission hall was no more than 'an old wooden structure', close to what became Splott Elementary School. The hall had previously been a meeting place for 'another religious group' and was rented for six shillings a week. The first service was on 25 Jul 1889 and that evening the physically blind Thomas Williams preached. The mission hall however was a flimsy structure and it wasn't unknown for an umbrella to be held over the organist's head when it was raining outside. The congregation increased rapidly as did the choir who competed in local eisteddfodau. Land on Walker Road was purchased and the first building, a schoolroom, opened on 24 Jan 1892 with a baptistery added in 1894 by which time Ainon had become an independent church from Salem. The main Ainon Baptist church building was constructed in 1895/6 at a cost of £2,500 and opened on 14 Jun 1896. The Marion Street Mission Hall continued to operate as a Sunday School and had 200 scholars in 1900. English language services were introduced in Ainon in 1911 and by 1929, all services were conducted in English. Ainon Baptist closed in 1975 and demolished in 1977. The site is now occupied by Ainon Court flats, erected by the Baptist Union of London.
